

Livio Maya

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Citizenship: Brazil, Italy
Address: 3375 Alma Street, 361, Palo Alto, California, US
Phone: (+1) 650 656 3514
email: livio@stanford.edu

EDUCATION

2015-2021 Stanford University - PhD Candidate in Economics
Thesis Committee: Profs. John Taylor (Advisor), John Cochrane, Adrien Auclert
Fields: Macroeconomics, Finance

2013-2015 FGV-EPGE - Master's in Economics
Field: Finance | Dissertation: A Systematic Component of the Jump Risk Premium in an AJD Model

2009-2012 FGV-EPGE - Bachelor's in Economics

EXPERIENCE

2015-2020 Stanford University - Research Assistant
2016-2020 - Prof. John Taylor | Macro research: monetary policy in the US
2015-2016 - Prof. Benjamin Hebert | Empirical macro-finance research

2018-2020 Stanford University - Teaching Assistant
Principles of Economics (Summer 2018, Fall 2018, Fall 2020)

2015 FGV-EPGE - Research Assistant
Profs. Marco Bonomo, Tiago Berriel, Carlos Carvalho

2014-2015 FGV-EPGE - Teaching Assistant
Master in Finance: Fixed Income, International Finance, Computational Methods in Finance
Undergraduate: Macroeconomic Theory

2011 Quantum (Brazil) - Intern

2011 Kyros Investimentos (Brazil) - Intern
Macro Research: US, Europe, China

SKILLS

LANGUAGES: English (fluent), Portuguese (native), Spanish (read: good, speak: intermediate)
COMPUTER SKILLS: Dynare, EViews, Excel VBA, Git, Julia, \LaTeX , MatLab, Python, R

SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS

2020 Bradley Graduate Fellowship Award
2019 Bradley Graduate and Postdoctoral Fellowship Award
2015 Stanford University Scholarship for Graduate Studies
2014 FAPERJ Nota Dez Scholarship for Top Performance
2013-2014 CAPES Scholarship for Master's Program in Economics
2009-2012 FGV-EPGE Scholarship for Undergraduate Studies

RESEARCH PAPERS

An Inflation-Based Estimate of Fiscal Discipline in Emerging Markets

The Repression of Informal Labor: Aggregate Effects and Transition Dynamics (with Gustavo Pereira)

Risk Premia, Informality, and the Business Cycle (with Gustavo Pereira)

Dynamic Fiscal Policy with Frictional Labor Markets (with Gustavo Pereira)